Bloody Rioting In Algeria

Firm Outline On Education Urged By Solons

HARRISBURG (AP)—The legislative architects of education have been asked to draw a firm outline of a program for the 1961 session of the General Assembly.

"In their Thursday and Friday meetings they will have to definitely decide what they want to do," House Majority Leader Stephen McCann said Wednesday.

After that, he added, the legislative leaders will have to decide what to do with the current session, now in its seventh month; adjourn, recess or work to a final decision on education.

The special House and Senate committees on education plan to meet Thursday night and again Friday to further discussions of an educational program, based on the recommendations of the Governor's Committee on Education. The Senate meets Thursday, after a one-week recess. The House does not return until next Monday. Mostly routine business was expected from the Senate session.

In six previous joint meetings, the special committees have yet to come up with a single piece of legislation on which they can agree.

And while the 14 assembliesmen and senators wrestle with this problem, the pressure to wind up the 1961 session soon has been growing. A tentative final adjournment date of July 15 was set several days ago.

The education committees have advised their leaders that they cannot come up with a program by that date. They have asked for a two weeks to one-month recess.

The official position of Gov. Lawrence's office remained: The legislature should stay in session until it acts upon an education program.

Meanwhile, Sen. John J. Haluska, D-Cambria, has called off his plans to bring in newspapers to explain their criticism of the handling of a pair of bills to regulate strip mining in Pennsylvania.

Haluska said the newspapers didn't feel they should participate in such a proceeding.

British Retreat Sought

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The United Arab Republic and the Soviet Union both urged the U. N. Security Council Wednesday to call for withdrawal of British armed forces from Kuwait.

Omar Loufi, the U.A.R. delegate, accompanied his call with a plea to the council to let the Arab countries themselves resolve the crisis over the oil rich desert kingdom.

He said this could best be done within the machinery of the Arab League, whose secretary-general is currently consulting with leaders of Arab countries.

The Soviet and U.A.R. positions were set forth at the second meeting of the 11-nation council on Kuwait. The council met for the first time in extraordinary session on Sunday, then adjourned until Wednesday.

Duty to Condemn

Soviet Delegate Valerian A. Zorin asserted the first duty of the council was to condemn British for sending troops and to "adopt such measures as would lead to the immediate withdrawal of British troops from Kuwait."

Britain dispatched troops and naval forces at the request of Sheikh Sir Abdullah as-Salim as-Sabah, who said his country's independence was threatened by Iraq's claim that Kuwait belongs to Iraq.

Kuwait requested a meeting of the council and won support of both Britain and the United States.

War Tempo Builds Up In Kuwait

KUWAIT (AP)—Brig. Derek Horsford, commander of British forces in Kuwait, said Wednesday the tempo of the Iraqi build-up of ground forces on Kuwait's blistering border appeared to have increased.

At the same time he ordered crack Marine commandos out of their advance positions because of the fierce desert heat and sandstorms.

Fresh troops from reserve units went forward to relieve 600 men of the No. 42 Royal Marine Commandos who dug into the desert five days ago at the beginning of the British operation to defend Kuwait's independence against the threat of Iraqi annexation.

Military sources estimated a third of the commando unit had suffered at least the first stages of heat exhaustion—dizziness and sickness. Most recovered quickly with on-the-spot treatment. But more serious cases were flown by helicopter to the Marines' base ship, the aircraft carrier Bulwark in the Persian Gulf off Kuwait.

Withdraw All Troops

LONDON (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev Wednesday called for the withdrawal of all foreign troops from South Korea to permit the Koreans to work out their own reunification.

Hoffa Gets Clean Bill Of Health From Teamsters

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The Teamsters Union convention Wednesday yielded approval of a resolution giving union President James R. Hoffa a clean bill of health on all corruption charges past or pending.

Not a single voice was heard among the 2,000 delegates in the packed Deauville Hotel auditorium when Hoffa called for any negative votes.

The resolution reviewed charges brought in the courts, in Senate hearings and by the now-dissolved Teamsters monitor board and concluded that the delegates nevertheless believed Hoffa and other top officers have served the union "with integrity, loyalty and dedication."

The list of legal troubles for which Hoffa was thus absolved by his union colleagues included a pending federal mail fraud indictment at Orlando, Fla., involving an alleged misuse of union funds in a private land development scheme.

Critics Probers

The resolution action followed an address by the Teamsters general counsel, Edward Bennett Williams, a well-known criminal lawyer. He criticized Senate investigators and the monitors for

Bulletin

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Teamsters Union convention delegates dominated by union President James R. Hoffa, voted Wednesday to limit the right of rank-and-file members to hold office or become delegates to future conventions.

A few scattered protests that the rules changes would cut down the rights of dues-payers were crushed under the steamroller voting.

what he said was practicing guilt by association on the Teamsters.

Williams said when cases reached court, where constitutional rights are afforded, acquittals resulted in all the half-dozen cases involving Hoffa and other top Teamsters officials.

Joseph Curran, a leader in the recent maritime strike and an AFL-CIO vice president, arrived on the convention scene to encourage Hoffa in his renewed drive to establish a powerful combination of land, sea and air transportation labor organizations.

Curran, president of the AFL-CIO's National Maritime Union, also predicted the federation soon will have to consider cancelling its three-year-old expulsion of the Teamsters on corruption charges. Curran said he believed even Walter P. Reuther, head of the United Auto Workers Union and a Hoffa critic, would not oppose a move to readmit the Teamsters.

Easy Sailing

A series of Hoffa proposals further broadening his union powers began gliding smoothly through the convention. One of the first adopted extends Teamsters jurisdiction to all workers in any industry without regard to jurisdictional boundaries.

He also was given the power to establish a union federation to rival the AFL-CIO.

Another vote okayed Hoffa's proposal to establish formal union headquarters in Detroit while maintaining present operating headquarters in Washington. This was widely regarded as a move to cloud proper court jurisdiction in bringing lawsuits against the union.

A controversial dues raise plan was among the other proposals waiting action.

Six Alarm Fire

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A fire Wednesday night destroyed a lumberyard and industrial plant, forcing evacuation of some 100 homes. Visible for miles, the six-alarm fire burned out the Girard Lumber and Millwork Co., Inc., and the adjacent Best Buy Products Co., manufacturers of silk lampshades, in North Philadelphia.

80 Killed, 266 Wounded In Outburst

ALGIERS, Algeria (AP)—Algerian Rebels backed their bid for power with a general strike and riots Wednesday that cost them at least 80 dead and 266 wounded.

The rebel protest strike against the French threat to partition the North African territory degenerated into bloody rioting. Casualties dropped in the dusty streets in many towns on the anniversary of the French landing in Algeria on July 5, 1950.

French troops grimly put down disorders with gunfire, losing six men killed and an estimated 20 wounded at the hands of demonstrators rallying around the rebel green and white colors.

Although it was one of the most powerful demonstrations of pro-rebel feeling among Algeria's Moslems in four years, the chief government spokesman, Jacques Coup de Frene, said the day's incidents "proved nothing."

He described them as a tragic obstacle in Algeria's path toward independence.

51 Demonstrators

The spokesman said the rebel dead included 14 rebel soldiers, 15 terrorists and 51 street demonstrators.

Moslem deputies from Algeria sent a telegram to President Charles de Gaulle in Paris protesting "the murderous reaction of the security forces."

Algerian prisoners in France started a hunger strike in protest against the gunfire. The French National Assembly suspended business for a moment's silence as a tribute to the dead.

Although the French spokesman said disorders took place in only nine of the 75 administrative divisions of Algeria, he admitted the strike had been effective throughout the country.

There were mass demonstrations in support of the rebels in both neighboring Tunisia and Morocco.

Ferhat Abbas, the rebel leader, told a crowd of tens of thousands in Casablanca, Morocco: "Algeria is one and indivisible. It is not a gruyere cheese which can be carved up."

Israel Fires Rocket Into Space

JERUSALEM, Israel Sector (AP)—Tiny Israel leaped into the big league of world science Wednesday with a rocket fired successfully into space to gather weather data.

The feat, though nonmilitary, is certain to stir concern among Arab nations which regard themselves as still at war with Israel.

The rocket was the multi-stage Shavit (Meteor) II. Israeli authorities said it was fired at 4:41 a.m. from a secret launching pad on the Mediterranean seashore and reached a height of 80 kilometers—50 miles—precisely as planned.

Propelled by solid fuels developed in Israel, the rocket in its final stage discharged a sodium metal powder from its nose, creating a radiating cloud. From this, Israeli scientists deduced weather conditions in the stratosphere and ionosphere and pronounced the experiment a complete success.

Prime Minister

David Ben-Gurion stood by proudly as the rocket, weighing between 550 and 600 pounds, blasted off.

Joins 6 Nations

The triumph by this 13-year-old nation matched similar launches by the United States, the Soviet Union, France, Britain, Italy and Japan. Although Israel has only about two million people, it boasts some top scientists who fled the Nazi extermination campaign of Jews in Europe.

(The name Shavit II suggests the rocket was the second of its line. This dispatch, which passed through Israeli censorship, did not say what might have happened to Shavit I.)

The government, in making the announcement, stressed the venture was devoted entirely to meteorological research.

The immediate reaction from Israel's Arab neighbors, bitter about the mere existence of the Jewish nation, was cautious.

M. Crandall, vice president and general manager, on behalf of the Pocono Manor Inn.

In making the presentation, Crandall said "The hospital through my 14 years of acquaintance of its services, has been of true value to the Manor, both as to services for our staff members as well as for many of our guests."

According to Chairman Williams, the amount includes the corporate gift as well as involving the gifts of the hotel resort guests.

Also Mrs. Gary Keller, Mrs. Raymond R. Kohn, Mrs. John LaBar, Mrs. Walter R. McClelland, Mrs. Eugene P. Powers, Mrs. Sol Rothstein, Mrs. Saul Schulman, Mrs. Richard J. Smith and Mrs. R. L. Weichel.

It is expected that more than 100 resorts will be asked to participate in the current program which covers a period of four seasons.

AMA Protests Drugs Proposal

WASHINGTON (AP)—The American Medical Association declared its opposition Wednesday to a proposal of Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., that the government decide whether drugs work.

The AMA said Kefauver's proposal would "limit research, the marketing of drugs, and the exercise of discretion by the medical profession."

But Kefauver, maintaining that the public's patience "with price-gouging in drugs is wearing thin," said his plan would reduce the cost of prescription drugs.

Under Kefauver's proposal, the Food and Drug Administration, before approving drugs, would investigate whether they worked. At present, the FDA checks drugs only to see if they are safe.

Hemingway Services Today

KETCHUM, Idaho (AP)—Simple, graveside services are scheduled Thursday for Ernest Hemingway, one of America's best-known and most influential authors, noted especially for the way he captured the mood of the post-World War I generation.

He was baptized a Roman Catholic after he married the second of four wives. A son said he had not been active in the church, but the family asked a Catholic priest to conduct the services in the public cemetery of this southern Idaho community among the hills and mountains where Hemingway loved to write and hunt.

The 61-year-old Nobel prize winner died of a shotgun wound in the head Sunday night at his home. It was ruled self-inflicted but no determination was made as to whether it was accidental or on purpose.

Employment Rises Along With Jobless

WASHINGTON (AP)—The number of people at work in the United States hit a new high in June, but joblessness also increased.

The reason for this apparent paradox: Teen-agers in record numbers left school either temporarily or permanently and began hunting work. They thus swelled the "labor force," which is defined by the government as the number of people working plus those looking for jobs.

Total employment rose to 68.7 million in mid-June. This is an increase of 1.9 million over mid-May. The June total is a few thousand larger than the previous records set in June and July last year.

5.6 Billion

Unemployment rose to 5.6 million, an increase of 800,000 over the month period. This was about what was to be expected at this time of year, officials said, although the total of unemployed was the largest of any June since before World War II.

The number of teen-agers added to the jobless roster was 900,000, a larger figure than in any other postwar year. About 1.6 million others 14 to 19 years old succeeded in getting jobs, either part time or full time.

The seasonally adjusted rate of unemployment was 6.8 per cent in June, the figure has remained practically unchanged for seven months. The rate of unemployment means the percentage of the labor force which is without jobs.

The total of persons out of work 15 weeks or longer dropped seasonally by 300,000 to 1.6 million in June. However, this was still double the level of a year ago.

Among the long-term unemployed there were 900,000 who had been without jobs for more than six months. This was about the same as in April and May and officials called it "a very stubborn figure."

Of the total unemployed in June about 3.2 million nonfarm workers were on part time. This was about 300,000 more than in May because so many youths who entered the labor market could find only part-time work.

The number of regular full-time workers whose hours have been cut below 35 because of slack work or other economic reasons was reduced by 100,000 from mid-May to mid-June. This brought the total down to 1.2 million.

Arabs Trying To Patch Things Up

KUWAIT (AP)—Striving to patch up Arab unity, the Arab League's secretary-general left Wednesday for Saudi Arabia and mediation talks with Kuwait's chief Middle East backers in the quarrel with Iraq.

Secretary-General Abdel Khaled Hassouna refused to reveal details of his talks with this oil-rich territory's ruler, Sheikh Abdullah as-Salim as-Sabah.

TWO WOMEN pilots, Jean W. Brewer, Tucson, Ariz., and Beatrice Edgerly MacPherson, Bushkill, will be in take-off position No. 56 in the 1961 All-Woman Transcontinental Air Race.

Popularly called the Powder Puff Derby, the race will take off from San Diego the morning of July 8. To be eligible for the numerous cash awards and trophies, entrants must cross the finish line at Atlantic City before noon on July 12.

Miss Brewer is a flight instructor and operated a flying school in Norman, Okla., for three years prior to moving to Tucson. She is currently a charter pilot and instructor for Donald Aircraft Corp., 1732 Valencia Rd., Tucson.

Mrs. MacPherson, part-time resident of Bushkill, who is an artist, a writer, and currently art critic for Arizona Daily Star, is married to J. Havard MacPherson, also an artist. She is a member of the Tucson Press Club, and her name appears in Who's Who of American Women. She has raced in six previous AWTARs.

Both women are members of the Ninety-Nines, Inc., international organization of licensed women pilots which sponsors the annual AWTAR. Although open only to women pilots, the race attracts more entrants than any other single aviation event, with 101 entries this year. The race rules demand strict adherence to FAA regulations.

The Brewer-MacPherson team will be sponsored by the Tucson Airport Authority, and by an anonymous donor in the name of the Tucson Boys Chorus.

Market Probes

Compelling, if familiar, arguments have been advanced in favor of a proposed $750,000 special appropriation for a full-scale investigation of the securities markets by the Securities and Exchange Commission.

The SEC chairman understandably welcomes the idea and other witnesses before a House subcommittee studying the proposal believe an SEC inquiry might be beneficial.

But judging from a Senate committee's excursion into Wall Street in 1955, there may be some doubt as to the benefits. Fruitful results of the protracted Fulbright "study" of the stock market were practically nil, the possible exception being further information of the well-known fact that gullible people eager to make a fast buck are attracted to the market on news of rising stock prices.

If what the SEC wants is evidence of abuses by freewheeling brokers and salesmen of stock of questionable worth it has, by its own admission, plenty of it.

As a matter of fact, Congress' present preoccupation with the stock market derives from the recent Re (father and son) scandal in the American Stock Exchange. The case involved price manipulation, touting, dummy customers and the rest of it, all of which had been going on openly for a couple of years.

There's no question of the increase in recent years of criminal cases involving stock salesmen's relations with their customers. And there's little doubt of the need of greater protection of the public.

But this can probably be accomplished through stricter application of present laws and enforced adherence to the ethical standards of reputable investment houses. The Re case indicated lack of alertness by both the SEC and the American Exchange.

Opinions Of Other Editors

The Not-So-Public Payroll

Congress should revive the Official Register, either by separate statute or by the amendments which Senator Javits urged on the Senate Appropriations Subcommittee last week.

The publication, which contains names and salaries of government employees in administrative and supervisory posts, was suspended last year as an economy measure. Its total cost is about $40,000 a year.

This sort of publication was commenced in 1802 in the Jefferson Administration, on the theory that the annual publication of all employees of government might hold down the federal payroll. Initially all employees were included but later the affected classes were cut down. Jefferson said in his first annual message:

"... we may well doubt whether our organization is not too complicated, too expensive; whether offices and officers have not been multiplied unnecessarily and sometimes injuriously to the service they were meant to promote. I will cause to be laid before you an essay toward a statement of those who, under public employment of various kinds, draw money from the Treasury or from our citizens."

There is a lot more need for such a list now than there was in 1802. The best evidence of that is to be found in the very fact that the list has grown so large that, in the estimate of Congress it costs too much to print it.

Its very length seems a better argument for continuing publication than for suspending it. Citizens in a democracy really ought to be able to find out easily, as they could in the Official Register, who is governing them and how much they are paid.

George Sokolsky Says . . .

Tractor Fiasco

One tends to give the benefit of the doubt to those who seek to devote themselves to saving persons from imprisonment or death.

However, it is often the case that persons of good will become over-enthusiastic about just causes.

The attempt to exchange tractors for human beings was not only absurd but undignified. The device of having a committee of private citizens attempt to do what the government was ashamed to do, fooled nobody.

Quite openly the Committee advertised that the President of the United States was behind the proposal. Negotiations between the United States and a foreign nation however are best conducted through proper channels.

Castro, of course, made monkey-isms of the Tractor Committee. He constantly changed the terms. He asked for more. His final proposal was so ridiculous that the Tractor Committee had to turn it down and go out of existence.

What is there to be learned from all this? More and more it is becoming clear that there are too many volunteers and amateurs in the Kennedy Administration, too many anxious beavers who want to get into things. The President has much to learn from the Cuban fiasco which continues to be a fiasco.

Surely he has discovered by now that the Marine Corps can do a better commando job than the CIA. The redoubtable General Smedley Butler showed more ability any day of his service than the para - military amateurs in the CIA.

Secondly, the President must by now have discovered that an excellent technician does not necessarily have the breadth of view and the imagination to formulate policy. The fourth floor of the State Department represents, on the whole, considerable ability but insufficient maturity.

It was the fourth floor of the State Department that made it possible for Castro to take possession of Cuba. It was there that the decision was made that Batista was a bad boy and Castro a good boy.

Thirdly, on the other hand, no President can do without trained experts. These men have the knowledge of the history and literature and the personalities of the countries with which they deal.

The distinction between a technician and a policy - maker, however, is very great. A President and a Secretary of State can and should utilize technicians where they fit, but policy should be made on a broader plane than the technicians are capable of grasping.

Finally, the uninformed, untrained amateur, whose heart is in the right place and who slobbers over every sentimental cause can be a menace. During World War I and immediately after, the manufacturer of plumbing, Charles R. Crane, a noble citizen, well-intentioned and kindly, set up an organization of wise men whom he sent to various countries on his private payroll to advise foreign governments in various ways.

The Crane men were supposed to keep their connection secret, but such things do come out. I encountered some of them in China in those days and they proved to be a nuisance both to the American and Chinese officials. Some of them were men of enormous culture and some were highly experienced, but they had neither authority nor responsibility and therefore were meddlesome Nellys.

During the Russian Revolution in 1917, perhaps half a dozen Americans, some of distinction, represented the State Department, the American Red Cross, and George Creel's organization. Each man had different instructions. Each one vied with the other in attempting to be important.

I recall that Leon Trotsky, who was worried that certain elements would kidnap the American ambassador, David Francis, discussed this question with me. Trotsky had lived in the United States and knew our ways well.

He could not understand, however, why the President kept these competing great men in Petrograd where they only created the impression of inconsistent confusion.

Apparently, we have had the same sort of thing in Cuba. The center of authority is lost in the encouragement of a number of diverse persons and agencies to get into the act.

Each group of Cuban refugees in New York and Miami is dealing with some one else and the competition was so wild and open that Castro knew each secret even before it was born.

It is fortunate that the tractor business turned out to be a failure. Imagine, if it had succeeded, what Mao Tze - tung would have charged to free Americans he still holds prisoner!

'What Have I Done To Deserve Such Unpopularity?'

The Pennsylvania Story

By Mason Denison
Harrisburg — So - called "pressure" groups unquestionably have had a field day during the current session of the Legislature in their bids to boost Pennsylvania's already record-break - ing near $2 billion budget.

To the average Mr. and Mrs. William Penn (who will pay the bill in the end) they might well wonder as they hurry home after the day's work, what or who is behind the host of demands for increased services and correspondingly increased costs.

The answer is an interesting one, and perhaps reflects a little realized transition that has taken place on the Pennsylvania scene during the past two decades.

Basically the transition can be summed up perhaps by pointing out that in the pre - World War II era, the primary influencing pressures dominating the scene were those constantly calling for economy in government with a firm "hold the line" attitude.

For the most part this represented business, industry and political influences.

Today on the Pennsylvania scene this is the type of pressure group that is becoming more dominant — the organizations virtually running the gamut through agriculture, forestry, public health, mental health, education, and welfare in general, to cite a few.

In reaching the size and influence these organizations are beginning to enjoy today, much of the credit must go to the Leader and Lawrence administration which early recognized the simple fact that with not too strong legislative blocs assistance would of necessity have to come from another source if the now well - known expanded social welfare programs of the Democratic administration ever hoped to see the light of day.

These organizations have enjoyed a rather sporting open-door policy with the two administrations (in a manner similar to that handed organized labor) in a move virtually unprecedented.

The social welfare pressure groups have moved shoulder to shoulder in seeking their common budgetary goals to implement their far reaching programs.

Whether for "good or bad" is not at issue in this column. The facts perhaps speak for themselves.

James Thurber, top American humorist, and creator of the immortal Walter Mitty, also dashes off an occasional poem in his spare time. Here are a couple of his two-liners:

1. Though statisticians in our time have never kept the score,
Man wants a great deal here below and Woman even more.

2. Men of all degrees should form this prudent habit:
Never serve a rabbit stew before you catch the rabbit.

Joe Lewis was sued for divorce by his wife. He said he must have been training too hard for his coming fight and forgot about her.

Li. John J. Grace, Pennsylvania State Police from Hazleton, reported that there were 197 fatal accidents on the highways in Monroe County for the year of 1940.

How many remember in 1936 when Shawnee Country Club officials announced plans for the second annual ladies golf tournament?

Joe Lewis was sued for divorce by his wife. He said he must have been training too hard for his coming fight and forgot about her.

Yield To Pressure

On the other hand in the post-war years there has been an almost phenomenal growth of pressure groups on the opposite end of the scale—social welfare organizations aiming basically at what might be termed functional goals, with cost a secondary or almost negligible consideration.

Within the past few years a number of these organizations have expanded tremendously as rank and file membership has increased and wealthy private donors upped their supporting stipends.

As a result, one after another of these organizations have either established or moved their state headquarters to Harrisburg.

It has reached the point now where these various and sundry headquarters here in the State Capital operate from expensive suites of offices complete with organizational goals.

In the current session for example, these social welfare pressure group organizations reached a pinnacle most never dreamed of only a few short years ago.

Their constant "budget analyses" giving their interpretations of how functions in which they are interested may be affected are almost more voluminous than that of the Budget Office itself.

Today on the Pennsylvania scene this is the type of pressure group that is becoming more dominant — the organizations virtually running the gamut through agriculture, forestry, public health, mental health, education, and welfare in general, to cite a few.

In reaching the size and influence these organizations are beginning to enjoy today, much of the credit must go to the Leader and Lawrence administration which early recognized the simple fact that with not too strong legislative blocs assistance would of necessity have to come from another source if the now well - known expanded social welfare programs of the Democratic administration ever hoped to see the light of day.

Off The Record

By Bob Clark

Bess was a good woman. She had raised six children and gave them the best that life could offer. Nothing was too good for her offspring. Rattles that talked, toys which moved, and cars that shined were heaped on her half dozen favorites from childhood to man and womanhood.

Bess also saw to it that they had an education befitting of their sharp mentalities. After all a boy and girl had to be sharp these days to cope with the intricate ways of life.

The far-sighted woman wanted her family to be recognized. If it took the material things to help out, Bess made sure the impossible became possible. If they needed prepping in knowledge, Bess sought out tutors to give her young 'uns the added touch.

Bess was a stern disciplinarian. Her kids took the mark. They were in bed at 7 p.m. during shakedown days and in the house at 9 p.m. during their high school careers.

The six of them had their chores, too. Janie had charge of keeping the upstairs of the house spic and span; Annie was boss of the downstairs and the kitchen project; Tim kept the outside of the home respectable; Jerry worked over the cellar like Mr. Clean was around; Art was the errand boy of all sorts; and Al was the versatile substitute who filled in whatever spot he was needed.

Bess, like one of the leaders in the coaching profession, pulled the strings 24 hours a day, shifting psychology here and putting a word of wisdom there to assure all that her household was the finest in the land.

The people outside of Bess' abode wondered how she did it. Running a six-kid family to near perfection was an accomplishment. And the neighbors admired the little lady for it.

Many times folks would compliment Bess in person and behind her back. It was always "wish we could run our families like you do, Bess." Or, "You have the perfect children, Bess."

Today Bess is alone in her nine-room home, wondering whether it was worth the effort.

Janie? She recently got married for the fourth time.

Annie? Courts have listed her as a public menace and nuisance.

Tim? He just completed the first year of a 10-year sentence for armed robbery.

Jerry? He's an alcoholic who refuses to remain anonymous.

Art? Groomed a family of 10 children and has been on relief since the first arrived.

Al? Nobody has heard of him from the time he boarded a ship for Cuba.

Was Bess a good woman? ? ?

The Allen-Scott Report

Bureaucracies Battle

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott

Washington — President Kennedy is uncomfortably finding himself in the middle of a scorching wrangle between two of the most potent bureaucratic forces in the Capital — the Bureau of the Budget and the General Accounting Office.

The Accounting Office, an arm of Congress, wants to investigate how the Budget Bureau functions, but is getting absolutely nowhere on that.

The Budget Bureau, a branch of the presidency, is flatly "refusing to cooperate," as Comptroller General Joseph Campbell is indignantly complaining, by blandly ignoring his demands for documents and other information.

Outcome of this extraordinary backstage hassle is a guess.

But on the basis of what happened in the past, the Budget Bureau will win hands-down.

That's what occurred the last time Campbell tangled with it. Some 18 months ago, under President Eisenhower, Campbell sought to probe how the Budget Bureau formulates the multi-billion dollar federal budget. He contended the information was essential for the guidance of Congress in voting these stupendous sums.

Then - Budget Director Maurice Stans brushed him off. He retorted that the affairs of his agency were the business of the White House and not Congress. A long controversy ensued that finally wound up on Eisenhower's desk. But although he had appointed Campbell to his 15-year job, the President sided with his Budget Director.

That blocked Campbell and he dropped the matter until this spring.

Hoping for better results in the new Kennedy Administration, he revived his would - be Budget Bureau investigation — only to run into the same unyielding opposition.

New Budget Director David Bell, taking exactly the same position as his Republican predecessor, told Campbell, "Nothing doing." Again Campbell fumed and fretted; but to no avail.

Bill Of Complaints — Now once more, the Comptroller General has appealed to the President — to order his Budget Bureau to allow itself to be investigated.

Campbell has done this in a special report spelling out his case on why the Bureau should reveal how it prepares the immense federal budget. According to Campbell, Director Bell is refusing to do that:

"On the premise that disclosure of data embodying or concerning opinions and advice of employees of the executive branch can tend to impair or inhibit essential reporting and decision-making processes; therefore, in accordance with the national interests; release of such data is forbidden in order to protect the orderly and efficient operation of the executive."

This claim, Campbell sharply tells Kennedy, doesn't hold water because:

"Congress created the General Accounting Office as an independent agency of the legislative branch of government to act in its behalf in examining the manner in which government agencies discharge their financial responsibilities, and to make recommendations looking to greater economy and efficiency in public expenditures."

"The denial of access to these records by the Budget Bureau makes it impractical for the Accounting Office to continue its efforts to conduct an independent review of the Bureau's most essential function — the formulation, review and execution of the federal budget."

Campbell also advised the President that he wants several hundred documents, including "a report on self - survey of the Budget Bureau, initial Bureau instructions to all agencies, budgetary forecast analysis, and all information submitted to the Bureau from the Treasury Department and the Council of Economic Advisers relating to the fiscal year 1960 budget."

While Campbell says nothing about it in his special report, the Treasury and Economic Council have notified the White House they are strongly against giving him what he wants.

This powerful support of the Budget Bureau may be a tip-off on what Kennedy's decision is likely to be — against Campbell.

If that happens, what Campbell does remain to be seen. He could recommend that Senate and House Government Operations Committees summon the Budget Bureau for grilling. But whether they would do that, and what it would amount to is equally conjectural.

The Treasury and Economic Advisers could point out they are agencies of the executive branch of the government and refuse to produce the data sought by Campbell.

That's happened before, and it can again.

The General Accounting Office, popularly known as the "financial watchdog of Congress," has a staff of 5,000. Although its head is appointed by the President, he can be removed only by Congress.

Since 1940, more than $1.5 billion has been returned to the Treasury as a result of AGO disclosures of over-payments, fraud and other irregularities.

Mrs. H.B. — Dear Mrs. B.: Not because of X-ray pictures! Too little radiation is used to do any harm.

Over the years, thousands of women have been X-rayed during early pregnancy and still given birth to howling, healthy babies.

Weak and Faint — Dear Doctor: Could a gall bladder condition be causing the low blood sugar that makes me feel weak and faint so much of the time? Will any pills help?

Mrs. D.P. — Dear Mrs. P.: Blame your adrenal gland, not your gall bladder. Ask your doctor about cortisone, the adrenal chemical that battles insulin and pulls the blood sugar up.

A pill a day can keep fainting away!

Dear Doctor: My 11 - year old son's organs have hardly grown since he was little. He's somewhat short and immature for his age, but he's quite overweight.

What would you suggest? Mrs. L.B. — Dear Mrs. B.: I would suggest waiting a few years. Short youngsters mature later than their taller classmates. You can expect growth when adolescence begins.

Dear Doctor: My navel is sore and red. Could weak kidneys be causing this? Mrs. W.O. — Dear Mrs. O.: Not likely. You probably have a mild infection which your doctor can clear with ointments and salves.

Wart Cure? — Dear Doctor: Here's a cure for warts.

Rub warts thoroughly with a potato sliced in two. Then toss the potato over your shoulder and don't look back to see where it lands.

Warts vanish as the potato rots.

Mr. J.P. — Dear Mr. P.: Thanks for the suggestion. Faith can melt any wart.

But don't forget to warn people against trying your cure indoors — unless they're willing to leave rotting potatoes around the house!

X-Rayed Abdomen — Dear Doctor: During the last week I was expecting, the doctor X-rayed my abdomen. Will my baby be abnormal?

Mrs. H.B. — Dear Mrs. B.: Not because of X-ray pictures! Too little radiation is used to do any harm.

Unusual Step 10 Teen-Agers Jailed By Court

TEN East Stroudsburg teenagers were committed to Monroe County jail yesterday until Friday afternoon when final disposition of their cases will be decided.

Judge Fred W. Davis took the unusual step after a hearing for the group in Juvenile Court.

The 10 are among 22 East Stroudsburg juveniles rounded up by police in the last month on a variety of charges including burglary, breaking and entering and larceny.

In other Juvenile Court action, Judge Davis sentenced a 16-year-old Stroudsburg boy to an indefinite term at Camp Hill Industrial School.

Theft of Money

The youth was arrested by Stroudsburg police on larceny charges resulting from the theft of money from a service station cash register. At the time of his arrest, the youth was on probation from an earlier offense.

In other court action: Joseph Renfro, 25, of 87 N. Third St., Stroudsburg, pleaded guilty to resisting arrest and was sentenced to four months to one year in jail and fined $300 and costs. The jail sentence will be computed from June 5.

Renfro was arrested by Stroudsburg police after a disturbance at the Elks Club on Third St.

Denman A. Transue, formerly of Tannersville, was released from Monroe County jail and placed on probation for five years on four counts of burglary. He was directed to pay $100 and costs on each count.

Case Continued

Billie S. Maples, 26, Shawnee-on-Delaware, charged with burglary and malicious mischief, had his case continued after Judge Davis appointed Walter Olenick to act as his attorney.

Civic Center Fund Set Up In Water Gap

DELAWARE WATER GAP—The nucleus of a fund for the establishment of a civic center here was set up last night in a meeting of the Delaware Water Gap Chamber of Commerce.

The women's auxiliary turned over $250 to the chamber with the stipulation that $50 of the amount be used to start the civic center fund.

The chamber accepted the gift at its business session presided over by Layton Osborn and voted a matching contribution of $50.

No definite plans were announced for the center, which would serve as an exhibition hall, convention hall and community center.

The organization took under consideration a proposal to purchase a 10-passenger pontoon cruiser, powered by a 40-horsepower engine, which would be used as an excursion boat on the Delaware River here next season. Proceeds would be turned over to the civic center fund.

Aug. 14-17 were set as the dates for the second annual community fair. It will be held at the rear of the Hickory Valley Farm Restaurant on Route 611.

From the proceeds of the regatta held last month on the Delaware River, the chamber voted contributions to the following participating organizations: Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Brownies, Little League and Portland Ambulance Corps.

A letter of appreciation for the help the chamber gave to the Appalachian Trail Conference was received from George Blackburn, secretary. He said the recent gathering was the largest in point of attendance in the history of the conference.

3 Persons Hurt In Collision

THREE persons were injured in a two-car accident on the Winona Falls Road near Bushkill and about eight miles east of East Stroudsburg in Pike County at 8:45 p.m. yesterday.

State Police at Milford identified the drivers as William J. Temple, 21, of 1212 Adeline St., Trenton, N. J., and Rubin Rothschild, 21, of 6306 Alderson St., Pittsburgh.

Two passengers in the Rothschild car—Barbara Kocher, 20, of 626 N. Sherman St., Allentown, and Robert J. Kirchofer, 23, of 2435 Freemansburg Ave., Easton—were taken to Monroe County General Hospital.

Miss Kocher was admitted for treatment of head cuts while Kirchofer was treated for minor injuries and discharged. Temple complained of an arm injury and was examined at the hospital.

Troopers estimated damage at $200 to Temple's car and $700 to Rothschild's.

Stroudsburg To Borrow $9,876.55

STROUDSBURG Borough Council last night authorized borrowing of $9,876.55, repayable over a five-year period, to pay for the borough's share of equipment and operating expenses for the sanitary land fill to be established in East Stroudsburg.

The action was taken after Borough Manager Harold E. Snyder reported equipment to operate the land fill is expected to arrive this week and the new garbage disposal facility is expected to be operational Aug. 1.

Council also adopted an ordinance, similar to East Stroudsburg's, requiring all dumping be at the land fill site and setting a $10 license fee for collectors.

Council received from the State Highways Dept. a letter notifying it that the department plans to reconstruct Main St. next year and asking the borough to commit itself to curbing and sidewalks, an action taken by the borough sometime ago. It was suggested that the reconstruction be started early in the Spring as possible to permit its completion before the summer season.

In other action, Council: Approved exonerations of $4,273.83 in 1960 taxes as presented by John A. Kitchen, tax collector.

Adopted an ordinance setting lines and grades for Fetherman St. as established by Borough Engineer Edward C. Hess.

Directed 30-minute parking be established on Main St. in front of the Monroe County Public Library.

Approved a recommendation of the police department for no parking on the west side of N. Ninth St. from N. Tenth St. to the borough line.

LCB Suspends Area License

HARRISBURG—Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board announced last night a 20 day suspension of the license of Lariel, Inc., Lake Ariel, Wayne Co., following its review of four charges.

The reasons are sales to minors; sales of malt or brewed beverages for consumption off premises in excess of 144 fluid ounces in a single sale to one person; permitting minors to render service of liquor and/or malt or brewed beverages; employed minor persons under 18 years of age.

The PLCB reported no suspensions in Monroe or Pike Counties.

40 Die On State Roads Over 4th

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Forty persons died in accidents in Pennsylvania over the 102-hour July Fourth weekend. Traffic accidents claimed 12 lives, another 18 drowned—six of them in boating mishaps, and 10 were killed in miscellaneous incidents. Fears that four instead of two were lost in a Pittsburgh boating accident Tuesday night turned out to be groundless.

Chairman of Finance

At a recent planning session, John Toley, Newfoundland, was named chairman of finances of a new fund-raising committee; Robert Staph, Newfoundland, recording secretary; the Rev. James Jeffers, South Sterling, member-at-large; and Peggy Bancroft, South Sterling, publicity.

This committee was organized to spearhead a drive to attract an industry that will fit in with the important resort industry, that will in no way detract from the natural beauty of the Pocono Mountains community and its surrounding villages.

Selling points for the area point up the fact that this is a year-round vacation area; it is ideally located in the largest market area, purchase-wise, of any in the world; and there are several good sites available.

"We may not see results immediately, — or even within the next six months," said Willis Gilpin, chairman of BIG and a member of the new committee. "But we will get results!"

The Barrett Volunteer Fire Company answered the call at 2:30 a.m. and were out less than an hour. Little, if anything, remained of the cabin when the firemen arrived at the scene.

This was the third time in a week that the volunteers responded to alarms. The first was when a short developed in the alarm system wiring and the second was to extinguish a trash fire at the Jay Shumaker property, Cresco.

A conglomeration of wooden materials, the cabin was opposite the Brodheads Creek on Route 290 across from the Rockledge Manor.

2 Injured In Accident

BOTH DRIVERS suffered minor injuries in a car-truck accident on a rural road in Plainfield Township at 12:15 p.m. yesterday.

Police Chief Donald R. Rohn identified the drivers as Alfred Grassa, 19, of 225 S. Third St., Bangor, operating the car, and Ulysses Klump, 59, Pen Argyl RD 1.

Both were treated by a local physician. Damage to both vehicles was estimated at $800.

Drama Next Attraction At Playhouse

"FIVE Finger Exercise," co-starring Dennis King and Signe Hasso will be the next attraction at Pocono Playhouse, Mountainhome, beginning Monday night, July 10. Both stars have delighted Playhouse audiences in past seasons.

Since King first reached America some 30 years ago, he has appeared in such musicals as "Rose Marie," "Three Musketeers," "I Married an Angel" and the unforgettable "The Vagabond King," which he carried from the stage to the screen. Equally adroit in classic drama, he has appeared in "Billy Budd," "The Devil's Disciple," "Medea" and "Pygmalion," to name a few, and during the past 15 years, television viewers have seen him on many network programs.

Signe Hasso, recognized in her native Sweden as "the first lady of the theater," won the Scandinavian award for the best performance of the year for her characterization in "Madchen i Uniform," which catapulted her into films. She played top roles in 14 pictures made in Sweden, Norway, Austria and Finland.

Miss Hasso made her Broadway debut in the starring role of "Edwina Black" and then to Hollywood to begin a movie career in America. She has been seen in "Assignment in Brittany," "Heaven Can Wait," "House on 92nd Street," "The Crisis" and numerous others.

The theme of "Five Finger Exercise" is universal—the inability of people to unburden themselves honestly to each other. The author, Peter Shaffer, built his story around a wealthy self-made Englishman and his pretentiously cultured wife, their college-age son and teenage daughter whose failure to communicate with each other has a shattering effect on their lives.

Into this house comes a young and personable tutor and the forces that have been seething beneath the surface are exploded with near tragic results. "Five Finger Exercise" will be directed by Malcolm Black and will continue through Saturday night, July 15, with matinees on Wednesday and Saturday at 2:40 p.m. Seat reservations may be made by calling LY 5-7456.

Tshombe's Agreements Rejected

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga (AP) — Katanga's Parliament yesterday dealt a new blow to hopes of a unified Congo by rejecting President Moise Tshombe's agreements to cooperate with the central government.

Parliament declared Katanga will not send delegates to a re-convened Congo Parliament in Leopoldville regardless of the agreements Tshombe signed June 24 when the central government released him from two months under arrest.

The agreements provided for closer political ties between the central government and this secessionist province and closer control of Katanga's army by Leopoldville officers.

Young Girl Exchanges Heat Of City For Poconos' Air

THERE'S a little girl in Henryville right now who has exchanged the smoke and heat of New York's East Side for the leaves and sunshine of the Poconos.

Estelle Press, 8½, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Press of 132 Ludlow St., New York City, is spending her second summer here through the Herald Tribune's Fresh Air Fund.

Mrs. Rose H. Dogan of Cliffside Park, N. J., owns a summer home in Henryville. She has hosted the little girl for both summer hiatuses.

Trek To Lodge

During the day, Mrs. Dogan and Estelle usually trek to the Henryville Lodge, who open their facilities to the pair.

Mrs. Dogan spoke of the girl as the reticent Estelle smiled. "Estelle is very happy," Mrs. Dogan said. "She just got her report card and it was all E's (for excellent)."

The first love of the tiny New Yorker is ballet dancing. She said that a former ballerina gives her lessons at the University Settlement in Manhattan. "I saw Swan Lake," she reported, and added that during the summer she "likes dancing best." Probably during the winter, too.

She attends Public School 160 in New York, likes math best, and will enter fourth grade in the fall. She has two brothers, five and 11.

To Spend Summer

She spent six weeks here last year, and arrived here this year on June 27 to spend the summer.

Annually many children that would spend the "fun" days enclosed by the concrete of New York are taken in by people living in the country through the Fresh Air Fund, and can enjoy a more wholesome atmosphere.

Eichmann Seen As Cruel Man

JERUSALEM (AP) — Adolf Eichmann was described by fellow Nazi officers yesterday as a cruel anti-Semite who followed Hitler to the end in destroying Jews, even against the wishes of arch persecutor Heinrich Himmler.

They said Eichmann, even though only a lieutenant colonel in the SS, had a "special position" in the Nazi security police headquarters in Berlin.

Eichmann, on the stand for the 11th day, squirmed several times as his defense was interrupted for the introduction into evidence of sworn depositions by ex-Nazis made before courts in Germany and Austria in the last two months.

3 Boys Held In $100,000 Fire

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP)—Three 12-year-old Columbia, Pa., boys who admitted exploring the old Standard Garment Co. building before it was destroyed by a $100,000 fire Friday night, were turned over to County Juvenile Court Wednesday by Columbia Police Chief Eugene McManus.

Columbia police said the boys, questioned again Monday, insisted the story they gave police earlier was the truth. They claimed they set fire to a piece of paper and dropped it down a shaft in the building to see what was on the bottom.

The paper ignited the debris, but the boys said they had doused the fire before leaving the building.

The names of the boys were not disclosed by authorities.

COUNTRY-LOVING CUTIE—Estelle Press, 8½, who lives in Manhattan's East Side, strikes a ballerina's pose as Mrs. Rose H. Dogan, a Summer Henryville resident from Cliffside Park, N.J., looks on. Through the Herald Tribune's Fresh Air Fund and Mrs. Dogan, Estelle has spent last year here, and will remain with Mrs. Dogan for the Summer.

Toadstools Only Nuisance

TOADSTOOLS IN LAWNS: What can be done to check toadstools or mushrooms which pop up in your lawn overnight? Actually these growths are not serious although their presence is a nuisance.

Toadstools or mushrooms spring up fast in areas having ample moisture, either from rain or irrigation. They are fungi which thrive on decayed tree roots, rotted stumps or leafmold buried in the soil. Just why they wait for years to pop up suddenly, no one knows.

In most cases these growths fade out and disappear after a couple of hot sunny days. In other instances, they may linger and disfigure the grass, often in circular rings called "Fairy rings."

Control is not simple. Most gardeners are satisfied to mow the white heads off or handpick and burn them. These are rather temporary measures, quite ineffective since handpulling merely removes the top, leaving the roots still imbedded in the organic matter in the soil.

Several chemicals have been recommended to kill toadstools, but as long as the decaying organic matter remains in the soil, toadstools are still apt to return. Try soaking the area with iron sulfate, 1 pound dissolved in 1-2 gals. of water, repeating two weeks later.

Corncob Mulch
As you travel through the countryside you're apt to see huge piles of corncobs which often are free for the asking.

Ground cobs are ideal for roses and mulching other plants. As with any organic material, you'll want to forestall any nitrogen shortage by adding a pound of nitrate of soda to each bushel, or by sprinkling liquid plant food over the 2 in. layer of mulch.

Corn cobs resist decay considerably and some gardeners like to remove the mulch in the fall and store them for use another year.

Delphiniums
Our readers tell us this has been an excellent year for delphiniums. The main trouble reported is a condition known as "blacks," which isn't a disease but a problem due to mites. The cyclamen mite causes the blooms to stunt, become distorted and marked with black streaks and blotches. Spray with malathion and try not to grow delphiniums near strawberries, since this fruit is also host to the mite. Cut off and burn badly infected shoots. Crown-rot (a catchall term for a group of diseases) causes the crowns to rot, and the plants to disappear. All are difficult to control. Dig up and burn infested plants to avoid spreading to those nearby, and plant delphiniums on new ground. Mildew may be a problem but it can be checked by dusting with sulfur dust or karathane. Good air drainage is essential to having trouble-free delphiniums.

GREEN THUMB BONUS:
Want to make a sweet-smelling rose jar? Send me a self-addressed, stamped envelope for your free copy of my bulletin, "How To Make A Rose Jar." It's packed full of good tips for making the old-fashioned rose jar.

A Tough Lawn Pest—My mail brings in scads of letters from irate gardeners asking if there is a weapon which can eliminate the dreaded ground ivy, commonly known as "Gill-over-the-ground."

Let's face it. Here is a pest just as tough to lick (if not tougher) than crabgrass. Introduced as an ornamental, it has escaped to become a serious lawn weed.

I doubt if there is any chemical which will knock out ground ivy. Hand-grubbing seems to be the only way to approach this aggressive weed. We've tried a number of materials but haven't hit any which do the job. Has any reader found a way to get rid of ground ivy? Please let me know, if you have.

Fuchsias
Called Lady's Earrings, this handsome house plant, enjoys a rich soil, full light and ample moisture. Buds and blossoms fall off when the air is hot and dry, or when the soil is dry. It does well in window boxes, or a summer stint in the garden or on the porch. Fuchsias are subject to attack from red spider mites, aphids and fly white, but all these villains can be banished by spraying with malathion or using an aerosol "bomb" sprayer.

Fuchsias are easy to propagate. Simply take tip cuttings and root in sand or water.

Peonies Again
If your peonies are spindly and doing poorly, take a look at the roots to see if grubs are working on the inside. If so, dig up the plants, cut out the diseased portions, dust the roots with DDT or chlordane and replant. This isn't the same thing which caused the buds to brown off and blast. That's botrytis, a fungus disease. Cut off dead buds, and burn. Keep the plants growing green until autumn, then cut them back when yellowing of foliage commences. Burn the foliage and drench the bed with captan, ferbam or a copper compound. Next spring, spray plants as soon as they emerge from the soil, and continue spraying every week until blossoming. That's the only way you can lick botrytis.

Grape Notes
When grape berries shatter in early fall, blame for this can be put on mildew, and when young fruit turns black and shrivels this is due to Black-rot. Both diseases are checked by spraying with captan or ferbam, and now's a good time to start applying either. Many growers use copper sprays on their grapes and you'll have a hard time finding a better substitute. Leafhoppers and berry moths can be a problem in some areas, but if you do what commercial growers do (spray with DDT) you won't have any problem.

Phlox Nudes—If your garden phlox turns white each summer, then here's a reminder to start

Question Box

QUESTION OF THE WEEK:
D.E. of Stroudsburg—"I wish you'd tell me when's the best time to trim our shrubs. Our spirea, forsythia and mock-orange have made a lot of shoot growth and we'd like to trim it, but don't know the best time."

A simple rule of thumb to follow is: Prune early flowering shrubs after they've bloomed. If trimmed in the fall or spring, buds will be destroyed, because the flower buds of early spring flowering shrubs are set during July and August for next spring's show.

Forsythia, mockorange, spirea and lilacs are examples of spring flowering shrubs.

Shrubs that blossom in summer or in the fall, bloom on twig growth of the summer, and any pruning should be done in spring before growth starts. Anthony Waterer spirea and Rose of Sharon are examples of late blooming shrubs.

If your shrubs are full of tall, leggy wood, or dead wood, prune them now for new vigorous growth. This is best done by thinning out 1-3 of the bush this year, and 1-3 the following year, until dusting the plants with sulfur or karathane to keep mildew out before it starts in. Once mildew has set in, it's impossible to eradicate it. So start action immediately and you won't have mildewed phlox.

the bush has been completely rejuvenated.

While some shrubs will stand complete cutting at once, it's best to spread the operation over a period of 3 years. A few minutes spent pruning shrubs regularly each year will give you a well-developed bush with ample blooms.

If shrubs are pruned properly, and still no blooms, then you can blame it on unfavorable weather or culture during the previous summer, heavy feeding or, dry summers.

G. H. of Portland: "Our arbutus and junipers have a pale cast to their foliage."

CLEARANCE

623 Main St., Stroudsburg

We've looked for insects or disease but cannot find anything. The plants are soaked 3 times a week so I know it's not a lack of water. What causes this?"

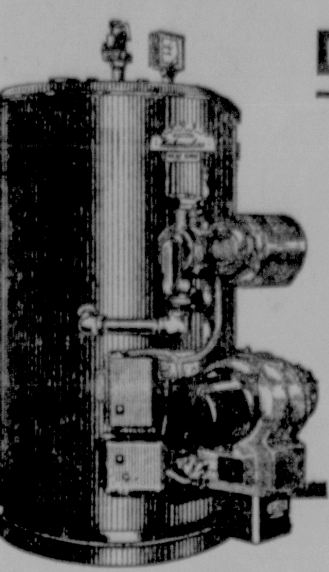

This is the work of the red mite, the red spider mites, tiny pests which suck juices from the foliage, causing the off-color hues. A magnifying glass will easily help you detect the spider mite, which is not an insect, but a true spider, having eight legs, compared with the six legs insects have.

Spider mites cannot tolerate moisture, hence syringing the foliage of your evergreens is good protection against them.

Spraying with malathion once every 14 days will banish this shrub scourge.

South Wayne Board To Air Dissolution

NEWFOUNDLAND—The Southern Wayne Joint School Board is holding a series of meetings to study procedure in effecting the dissolution of the jointure so that member districts will be free to go into other approved jointures.

Sterling is planning to affiliate with Lake Ariel and other districts of Unit D in Wayne County. Greene and Dreher townships will join the Wallenpaupack Area Jointure in Unit F.

3 Non-Coms Retire At Tobyhanna

THREE non-commissioned officers who joined the Army before Pearl Harbor, retired over the weekend at the Army Signal depot in Tobyhanna.

At a battalion retreat parade, certificates of retirement were presented to M/Sgt. John Wallace, 40, Sp/5 Clarence Lucas, 40, and Sp/5 Clyde Peters, 38. M/Sgt. Wallace also received the Army Commendation Medal for "outstanding service" as chief of the depot's visitors' bureau since Sept. 1, 1958. Certificates of achievement for their depot work went to the other retirees.

Sp/5 Lucas was a motor pool mechanic for the 510th Signal Co., and Sp/5 Peters served as training non-commissioned officer for the 128th Signal Co.

Also honored at the parade were Maj. George Kahl, executive officer, and Sgt. Richard Matulis, assigned to the depot's Career Development Program.

Major Kahl received an oak leaf cluster to his Army Commendation ribbon for "exemplary" service in Vietnam last year. Sgt. Matulis, another Army Commendation Medal winner, was cited for his recent accomplishments with the Signal Corps in Japan.

Presentations were made by Depot Commander Col. Lester W. Kaie.

Floor Stocks Tire Taxes' Reminder

U.S. INTERNAL Revenue Service called attention to the floor stocks taxes of two cents a pound on tires of the type used on highway vehicles, one cent a pound on inner tubes for any type of tire except inner tubes for bicycle tires, and two cents a pound on tread rubber imposed by the Federal-Aid Highway Act of 1961.

The tires to which the floor stocks tax applies are tires of the type used on highway motor vehicles such as automobiles, trucks, buses, highway tractors, and motorcycles, and on vehicles such as trailers (including house trailers) and semi-trailers of the type used in connection with highway motor vehicles.

The floor stocks tax does not apply to used tires as such, nor to recapped tires unless the recapping has been from head to head so that the original tire has lost its identity. The floor stocks tax does not apply to bicycle tires or other tires which are not of the type used on highway motor vehicles.

The floor stocks tax applies to inner tubes for any type of tire, except a bicycle tire. It is immaterial whether the tire with which the inner tube may be used is not of the highway type.

For purposes of identifying tires of the highway type which are subject to the floor stocks tax and determining the weight of such tires and of inner tubes, holders of floor stocks may be guided by schedules provided by the manufacturers, producers, and importers of the particular brand tires and inner tubes held by them.

It's An American Twist

Dear Abby: I met a man on a bus. He was very polite and well-dressed. Maybe I should tell you I am 16, but look older. This man said he was a talent scout and he thought he could get me in the movies. He asked me to go up to his hotel room to read over the contract, but I didn't have time because I was supposed to meet my mother downtown.

He gave me his name and telephone number, and told me to call him. He asked me not to tell my parents about meeting him. I don't want to pass up a chance to get into the movies, but I have never done anything behind my parents' back. What should I do?

Dear Abby: I have been married a very short time and have been told that I am wearing my rings backwards. I wear my engagement ring first because I was engaged first. Then, right next to it, I wear my wedding ring. People have told me that it should be the other way around. I still think I am right, but I would like to be sure.

Dear Abby: The wedding ring should be placed on the finger first (closer to the heart), and the engagement ring is worn next to it.

Dear Abby: My husband runs a gasoline station. He is known as the softest touch in town. He gives credit to all the dead-beats. When they have cash, they go somewhere else.

When the cash register rings, it is a no sale because he is in there getting a dollar to give someone who hands him a hard luck story. We are far from rich, but as long as he has a dime, he'll give somebody who has nothing a nickel. At this rate, we will never have anything. How can I convince this big-hearted luncheon to realize that he is a fool?

Dear Abby: Your "big-hearted luncheon" may be overdoing things, and a reminder that his

Lauren Bacall, Actor Married

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Actress Lauren Bacall and actor Jason Robards Jr. finally overcame legal obstacles and were married in Ensenada, Mexico, yesterday. Robards' studio, 20th Century Fox, announced the ceremony was performed at 1:30 p.m. by a judge of the civil registry in the Mexican coastal town. Miss Bacall, widow of Humphrey Bogart, and Robards finally accomplished in Mexico what they couldn't get done in Europe and the United States because of legal difficulties. Robards, 38, and Miss Bacall, 37, were refused a marriage license in Las Vegas, Nev., last Saturday. The marriage bureau refused to give the reason but said it was related to the Mexican divorce Robards' former wife obtained in Juarez, Mexico, last May 22.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. John Euseff in St. Matthew's Catholic Church, East Stroudsburg. Mrs. Willard Butz was organist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of Florentine lace over taffeta, styled with a round scalloped neckline and a full skirt of lace and tulle tiers. Mrs. Peter Perry Jr. of Scranton, cousin of the bride, was matron of honor. Miss Eugenia Litwinski of Bethlehem was bridesmaid. Flower girls were Beth and Lori Morman, nieces of the bridegroom.

The bride's attendants wore street-length dresses of pink or organza with hats of white chiffon and carried cascade bouquets of gardenias and pink sweetheart roses. The flower girls wore aqua organza with flowered headpieces and carried baskets of daisies.

Frank Summa, brother of the bride, was best man. Ushers were Victor, Robert, and Richard Morman, all brothers of the bridegroom.

Just Between Us —

—By Bobby Westbrook

If you have a mental picture of bibliophiles as delicate creatures, unsold by reality—look again. Or you should have looked early yesterday morning when the AAUW members were unloading books for their book fair. They were about as delicate as hothouse flowers and as dirty as coal miners.

They not only love books but they had to lug them—and sort through the dust of years—but it's a fascinating job and they left reluctantly. If ever you meet interesting people it's at the Book Fair.

There are children who've been waiting all year for the next one, progressing steadily up from the picture books, through the primers to the series books; there are students picking up classics and textbooks at a bargain; there are antique book lovers and paperback enthusiasts.

Then there's me! I never got beyond the children's book section. There are some old favorites, including the Bobsey Twins, but a whole series of new ones—including many mystery stories, no less.

I'm never one to turn up my nose at "series" books for children. Everything interesting I ever knew about the Panama Canal I learned from "The Motion Picture Boys in Panama" and my most vivid history I garnered from the series "A Little Girl in Old Quebec"—or "Philadelphia" or wherever she was.

But, besides, I was afraid to wander over into the fiction section. Some people can't have a box of candy in the house without eating it all. Some people can't resist liquor. I can't have an un-read book in the house.

Cousins Are Baptized

Three cousins were baptized at the Stroudsburg Methodist Church on Sunday, June 25 with Rev. Roger Stinson officiating. The baptisms were witnessed by the children's uncles: Halsey Melvin and Edward Melvin.

Refreshments were served by Mae Robbins and Naomi Learn. Present were Judy Veety, Valerie Robbins, Joanne Dunbar, Eugene Learn, Geoffrey Robbins, Elizabeth Merrin, Dorothy Heller, Ruth Dunbar, Mae Robbins and Naomi Learn.

BOOKS BY THE CARLOAD being unloaded for the AAUW Book Fair which opened yesterday on the porch at the Penn-Stroud Hotel, finds everybody helping: Tom MacMillan hands a box of books to Bethany Denning with Barbara Jo Lantz already loaded. Mrs. Thomas Nabors is unraveling the sign while in the background the general chairman, Mrs. Sumner Bossler Jr. helps an early customer. The Book Fair will be open from 9 to 5 today and from 9 to 9 on Friday and Saturday. Proceeds are for scholarships. (Staff Photo by MacLeod)

Panel Presents Views On Church Vocations For Youth

Tannersville — The United Lutheran Church Women of St. Paul's Church, Tannersville, met at the church with Nita Morris serving as program leader for "Who Opens the Door?"

Pastor Edward Horn; George Learn, a church councilman and instructor at East Stroudsburg State College; Catherine Rowe, an instructor in the Pocono Mountains Jointure; Roberta Rasely and Mary Ann Toms presented views on church vocations including those of pastors, teachers, missionaries, deaconesses, social and office workers, parish workers and others, among them 72 occupations in the church and mission field for women.

Of prime interest were the questions, "What leads a young person into a vocation and who influences them? Is it their parents, pastor, councilman, congregation member, Sunday school teacher, parents or other persons?" It was noted that the church can help its young people through prayer, by giving of their time to talk with them and not to be "stand-offish" and to find out what scholarships are available.

Betty Woodling read the Scripture. Mary Werkheiser reminded members to have a quiet time of meditation each day as they put a gift in the thank-offering box. A thank-offering thought was read by Nita Morris as Mrs. Werkheiser lighted the candles.

Betty Rowe presided at the business session. Routine reports were given by Wynne Below and Sally Newhart.

Education chairman Elsie Beescker spoke on the workshop being held at Muhlenberg College, Allentown, starting on July 11.

Marie Gravatt, Christian service chairman, reported that the Dorcas project had been completed. "Things to be saved during the Summer" included old sheets to be made into pads for use at the Lutheran Home for the Aged in Philadelphia and redeemable labels from household products and foods. Proceeds from this project will be donated to a Lutheran Home for Orphans and Aged.

Mrs. Fannie Hay, of Bartonsville, was reported on the sick list.

Announcement was made that no meetings will be held in July and August. The next meeting will be in September when Mabel Huffman will be in charge of the program, "How Big Is My World?"

Refreshments were served by Marion Peechatka, Esther Peechatka, and Helen Peechatka. There were 31 members attending. Also present were Pastor Edward Horn; Council member, George Learn; and Miss Mary Miller, from New York.

The Wyckoff Shopper

The Friendly Store

A.B. Wyckoff

STROUDSBURG, PA.

So now even the Fourth is a memory, and I hope you had an exciting day with your family and friends. Certainly the crowd in the store before the holiday was a wonderful one, with everyone milling around the casual wear in all of our fashion departments . . . the beach accessories on our main floor . . . and the candy department with its goodies. As one stranger told another, "This store has just about everything," and I think it truly does.

Monday afternoon I met "Papa" Wyckoff in conversation with our general manager, Mr. Kerlin, in the center aisle, and he showed me some of the new sun hats that had just arrived from Korea. They are delightfully saucy—rather large with a tiny round opening at the top that would be perfect for the girl with a pony tail. They are of straw with a shredded fringe effect all around. Very cute, with a fabric (rather in the shape of a gentleman's necktie) as trim. The price is 1.25.

As Maudie Walton remarked later, "I've never seen so many beach hats as we have in the store this year. We have them back in notions . . . up front in accessories . . . in the hat bar . . . down in the lingerie department (on the beach wear table) . . . and here in the better millinery. Do you s'pose we'll ever sell them all?"

Maybe yes, maybe no . . . but they're all delightful, and no one can say we haven't a variety, for we do. One of my favorites in Cora Albertson's department is the pink straw, with nylon scarf in matching shade, that I had selected for Miss Jantzen to wear during our Hadassah Fashion Show at Tamentim. I had thought it would look beautiful with her black Jantzen suit called Star Bright, but I noticed she wore it instead with a velvety suit of many varied colors called Persian Velvet. The hat was a choice color for her with her creamy skin, and dazzling dark eyes and hair.

In our downstairs millinery department, I love the kookie hats that are so perfect for the teenager. One, with matching beach bag, has a felt skunk as trim, and he squeals if you pinch his tail. This set is 3.98. Other hat and bag sets are 3.98, 5.00, and, in our upstairs department, 12.98. My very favorite is, of course, the latter, in a lemon yellow and gray rough, bulky straw. The bag is roomy and elegant; the hat prettily draped and pointedly peaked. I had hoped Miss Jantzen could show this, but it just wasn't quite right for the suits she modeled. Maude has other hats from 1.00, and some of the very cheapest are of excellent quality. One, for instance, is a cocoa brown straw with a scarf that slides through the brim, and can be tied in a number of attractive ways. There are clothes, rollers . . . every style.

One thing I'll say for hats on the beach . . . budget wise, they are nicely in reach of everyone.

Also at Wyckoff's: sets of bangle bracelets from India, priced at 59c . . . a pretty canape server with tiny brass prods dangling from a brass tree, and looking for all the world like fruit thereon because of the apple-shaped ball at the end of each. Just 15.00 . . . flywaters that have been glamorized and resemble giant sunflowers, in our notion department at 98c . . . Wicker "trees" decorated with strawberries at 1.50, or, in a smaller size, with red roses, at 75c. Pretty decorations made to hang flat against the wall of porch or sunroom. Funny thing, you never realize how much is forever new at Wyckoff's until you've been away even a little while. (Welcome back, all you city friends! Glad to see you back for your Pocono vacation.)

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

THURSDAY, JULY 6, 1961

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—Friedly on a whole lot of matters personal, also business, civic interests. A quiet, fluent speech backed by a pleasant, dignified manner leads day's winning combination.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus)—Taurus is in the "sunshine" column. Be direct but not abrupt; astute but not too emphatic; tactful but not conciliatory beyond needs. Keep fine ideals and associates in forefront.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)—Influenced by especially favorable conditions. Well-established business, known routine, home matters can advance. The best defense, of course, is a good offense so display your talents. July 24 to August 23 (Leo)—Like Cancer, day is yours to make or lose. You have always been a front runner so why not stay there with concentrated effort? Show tension, overbearing that leads to mistakes.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo)—Extra-interesting, progressive for the ready, quick-minded and acting person. Fine for charity interests; conscientious effort produces results. Heart affairs, family matters rate high.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Single out your most potent attribute to spearhead day's energetic offering. Get an early start and outdistance the competition. Institute new method to enhance usual presentation.

October 24 to November 23 (Scorpio)—Today calls for the eradication of complacency. Don't cling to past unhappy moods. A fresh approach, enthusiastic beginning, and the battle is half won. Stay progressive, up-to-date.

November 24 to December 21 (Sagittarius)—Permit your originality to bring you out of any shell. Tally the fruits, matter-of-fact way. Broaden your scope, manner, thinking processes. Crowd out non-essentials.

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn)—May be required to strive harder but results will justify the effort. Garner all your abilities to wage a full scale attack on dubious day's persistence, please.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius)—Fair outlook with proper discretion. Discern needs and apply the prescription in the doses required. Retire where necessary, bypass waste whenever it appears.

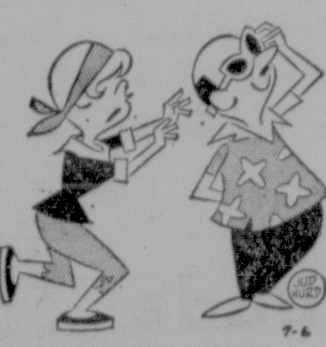

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces)—Aspects in good lineup for general activities. Don't indulge temper or moods which tempt and automatically deprive you of natural success. Be the strategist. Tactfully use diplomacy—WIN!

YOU BORN TODAY are made of success material in a very special way. You do not care as much about material things as about attaining in a wholesome, happy, useful-to-humanity manner, which is what counts. Literate and capable other artistic talent. Are patient with those slow to understand, but can get into heated argument with those who don't see eye to eye with you. Leave netty thoughts, nicknames, irritation at old things behind; they can spoil friendships, prevent accomplishments by your varied talents. Never believe others are holding you back—there is room for all the talents. The troubled world has—NOW! Keep fit with exercise, plain diet; but DON'T WORRY over the Birthdate of John Paul Jones, early American naval officer; Prof. Daniel Gliman, Carnegie Inst.; Harry F. Sinclair.

McKinley Gains Wimbledon Tennis Final

Becomes First American To Do So Since Trabert

By JOHN FARROW
Associated Press Sports Writer
WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—Charles (Chuck) McKinley, the bouncing 20-year-old from Missouri who plays tennis with the verve of an All-America football player, Wednesday routed Britain's Mike Sangster 6-4, 6-4, 8-6 and qualified for the men's singles at the Wimbledon championships.

The fiery collegian from St. Louis will play Rod Laver, the all-court specialist from Australia, in the final on Friday. Laver, 22 next month, coasted to a 6-2, 8-6, 6-2 victory over touch artist Ramanathan Krishnan of India in the other semifinal.

The chunky McKinley became the first American to reach the final of the men's singles since Tony Trabert won the title in 1955.

Has An Edge
The second-seeded Laver has an edge in experience and style but if aggressiveness and sheer doggedness of purpose are a factor it is hard to discount the chubby Yank, seeded eighth in the tournament.

McKinley is a fighter who tries for every shot, no matter how impossible the assignment, and who makes every return a thunderbolt. He doesn't know what it is to be cautious. He leaps and runs and slams and bangs until something falls.

It was his scrappiness which got him into trouble fifth the U.S. authorities last December.

WIMBLEDON FINALIST—Australia's Rod Laver makes return to India's Ramanathan Krishnan in semi-finals of Wimbledon tennis championships at Wimbledon, England. He won, 6-4, 6-4, 8-6, and will meet Charles (Chuck) McKinley of St. Louis in the finals on Friday. (AP Wirephoto by radio from London)

The pros rated the course at least four shots tougher than last year when Fairfield won with a 22-under par 266. The 6,537-yard layout plays 36-36-72.

Warner's HR Paces Elks To 4-3 Win

THE Stroudsburg Elks, powered by Bob Warner's mighty blast high over the centerfield scoreboard, rolled past the First National Bank 4-3 last night in Stroudsburg Little League game.

Warner's homer, with a man aboard, provided the winning edge for the Elks.

The losers put together a flurry of runs in the last frame but failed to overcome the victors lead. Warner limited the Bankers to two safeties in posting the win. The loser was Siegfried who permitted seven hits.

The winner's Reaser also contributed two doubles in going three for four to lead the hitters. R. Cramer knocked a double for the Bankers.

The boxscore:

U. S. Eyes Red China, Soviet Split

WASHINGTON (AP)—State Department officials privately professed intense interest yesterday in evidence of a fresh outbreak of conflict between the Soviet Union and Red China. This could have an important bearing on developing Kremlin policies in such East-West disputes as that over Berlin.

An exchange of Fourth of July messages between President Kennedy and Soviet Premier Khrushchev served to emphasize the wrangle within the Communist camp.

Despite bitter differences with Kennedy over Berlin, Laos, nuclear testing and disarmament, Khrushchev maintained a polite tone in his message to the President. In proper diplomatic language he extended Independence Day congratulations to the United States.

By contrast the Soviet leadership has snubbed the celebration at Peking of the 40th anniversary of the Chinese Communist party. Top officials in Moscow virtually ignored the occasion. But Khrushchev dispatched Mikhail A. Suslov, secretary of the Soviet party, to Ulan Bator as head of the Soviet delegation to the 14th anniversary celebration of the Mongolian Communist party.

Observe 185th Celebration Of Independence

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The 185th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence was observed Tuesday in hour-long ceremonies at the nation's birthplace, Independence Hall, with a call for rededication to the principles of the declaration.

Mayor Richardson Dilworth, the main speaker, said the declaration is not a mere museum piece nor merely an historical document but "announces principles that are still true. It calls upon us to pledge our lives, our fortune and our honor to their vindication."

He told some 2,000 persons assembled for the ceremonies, "we have two obvious responsibilities here. The first is to put an end to the shameful inequalities that persist in our society. The second is to welcome and support those political practices and economic developments that promise a greater degree of equality in other lands."

Church Council Plans Ceremony

HARRISBURG (AP)—Cornerstone laying ceremonies for the $400,000 headquarters of the Pennsylvania Council of Churches will take place here next Sunday.

The building is scheduled to be completed early next year. Dr. Jesse D. Reber of Harrisburg, general secretary of the council, said yesterday in a statement.

Dr. Raymond M. Kistler of Philadelphia, retired president of Beaver College, Jenkintown, and former president of the state council, will address the more than 200 church leaders expected to attend the cornerstone ceremony.

Other groups scheduled to have offices in the new building—to be known as the Pennsylvania United Church Center—are the Pennsylvania State Sabbath School Association, Pennsylvania Temperance League, and the Eastern Region of the Church of the Brethren.

Plans To Hear Suggestions

HARRISBURG (AP)—Gov. Lawrence says he will listen to the suggestions of legislative leaders for ending the current impasse on education.

"But that doesn't necessarily mean I'll agree with them," he said yesterday.

The important thing, Lawrence said, is that the General Assembly decide to act as soon as possible on programs for far-ranging improvements in public education.

The governor said he would have to be given a good reason before he would go along with a legislative adjournment or recess before action is taken on an education program.

State Officer Resigns Post

HARRISBURG (AP)—The resignation of Jack A. Bell, chief of the Sanitation Division's suburban facilities unit, was announced yesterday by the state Health Department.

He also is president of the Pennsylvania Association of Sanitarians.

Bell has accepted a job as director of the Bureau of Environmental Sanitation with the Virginia State Health Department. He had been with the Pennsylvania department since May, 1956.

Find Sunken Ships

LOUISBOURG, N.S. (AP)—A 17-member Acadia University skin-diving team has found the wreckage of three 18th century French ships sunk in an attempt to block the British from entering the Louisbourg Harbor channel.

Transfers Of Ownerships

By William A. Doyle

Q. With all the trading that goes on in stocks these days, I don't see how it is possible for a company to keep its records up to date — as to how many stockholders it has, how many shares each stockholder owns, etc.

A. Through its transfer agent. When you buy stock, the seller's broker delivers the stock certificate to your broker. Your broker delivers that certificate, with instructions to transfer to the transfer agent. The transfer agent issues a new certificate in your name or however you want it registered.

You have written that when a stock is registered in an adult's name "as custodian for (a child's name), a minor," under the gift - to - minors laws, it is illegal for the custodian to spend any dividends paid on that stock except "for the benefit of the minor." Does this also apply to money in a savings account, set up in much the same way?

A. Indeed, it does. If money is held in custodianship or trust for Many shareholders want to be able to keep day - to - day tabs on the performance of their investments. If they didn't see the fund quoted in newspapers, as other funds were quoted, they were unhappy.

The change in policy had to come sooner or later. And I like to think that a bit of prodding from this corner helped.

Language Listed
For Army Units

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army is setting out to give its special anti-guerrilla forces a rudimentary knowledge of foreign languages so they can make themselves understood by native populations.

The aim is to equip members of the special forces units to handle between 600 and 800 terms in a foreign language—enough to get across basic ideas and not much more. These units are trained to help friendly foreign populations cope with Communist guerrillas. One official described the new language program as experimental. "We are feeling our way," he said.
